

Our equality, diversity and inclusion mentoring scheme

16 July 2020

Our equality, diversity and inclusion (EDI) mentoring scheme offers law firms the opportunity to access resources and receive free mentoring, designed to help them develop their own approaches to EDI.

Open to any small and medium-sized law firms, the scheme will see 12-months of one-to-one mentoring delivered by law firms who are recognised as leaders in the EDI field.

Participating firms will also get access to a wider range of advice, support materials and networking opportunities. Read our mentee firm role description below [\[#heading\_c57c\]](#).

Mentors

The mentors include top performing law firms on EDI and specific areas such as mental health and wellbeing, gender, race, disability and social mobility:

Support will be designed around the individual needs of each participant with mentoring firms providing an average of two hours free support and guidance every month. Areas which could potentially be covered include:

- business reasoning and buy in
- complying with legislation
- policy development
- recruitment
- role models
- role of senior leaders in promoting EDI
- staff networks

Apply to get involved

To apply to take part in the scheme simply complete a short expression of interest form by 12 August.

The mentoring scheme builds upon a similar project [https://news.sra.org.uk/lgbt], run by us in 2018, which focused specifically on LGBT issues.
